The play is "Brer Rabbit," the seventh in a series of children's plays presented by the Club in the past seven years. The cast includes: Evelyn Cunningham, Priscilla Ordway, Edith May, Frieda Altman, Isabel Skipwith, Bernice Hodges, Gladys Fuller, Doris Lovell, Barbara Wellington, Marion Clapp, Grace McCarthy, Helen Rae, Alice Jack, Priscilla Bacon, Julia Bacon, Marguerite Brandt, Joan MEWTON PALS OPEN SEASON

NEWTON PALS OPEN SEASON

The Newton Pals Club held their first baseball practice of the 1926 season, last Sunday afternoon, March 28th, at Cabot Park, Newton. Every regular of last season reported for the initial workout and there were a few new men trying out for the various positions on the nine. A long batting drill was the only work attempted during the afternoon, as the soft and unrolled ground made fielding hazardous.

The prospects of Saturday night at 11 flames were discovered in the laundry of the bouse at

The prospects of a successful season are indeed bright and Coach Duffy feels confident that the team will continue its fine work of last season when it defeated some of the finest teams in the State. The Newton Pals hope to better last year's record of but 6 defeats in 38 starts.

Instead of spending so much valuable time in considering the numerous applications for gas filling stations on every corner and for automobile garages along our main highways, we suggest that the city government study the effect of the present drastic building code so far as it affects the erection of apartment houses. We have heretofore pointed out that apartment houses of the type of the Hunnewell apartments in Newton and of Bradford Court in Newton Centre would be a desirable asset to the city and their erection should be encouraged. Not only will such buildings add materially to the taxable valuation of the city, but they would bring in tenants who would spend considerable apparent in the stores. in tenants who would spend considerable money in the stores of Newton erable money in the stores of Newton and add to the business and prosperity of all concerned. Possibly the Newton Chamber of Commerce might turn its energies in this direction with profit to the chamber and to the city.

The assessors began their annual work this week in figuring the valuation of the city for the purposes of taxation. The assistants will visit each house in the city while the principal assessors dtermine the real and personal valuation. Citizens can help in this necessary work by filing statements with the assessors as early statements with the assessors as early

Newton can well afford to maintain to the highest point of efficiency, the work of the Boy Scouts in this city. As Mr. Irwin, the father of scouting in Newton well says, "It pays the biggest dividends," in the education of the future citizens of the nation. We can all help in this splendid work. can all help in this splendid work. Let's go.

April promises to be a busy month for the State Federation, and even though for their active Chairmen the end of a full year is in sight, there seems little slackening of events planned by them for the help of individual clubs.

Social Science Club

Mr. Francis Bacon, in his talk on "The Tariff as a Vital Factor in Uni-ed States History" Wednesday morn-ng before the Social Science Club.

NOBLE'S "DOUBLE A" good milk"

summed up briefly the outstanding features of the growth of the nation as we have studied it throughout the year. He showed how the Tariff was closely interwoven with the whole fabric of the Government Tariff, he called a barrier between nations or parties, or it is sometimes called a football, inflated and deflated as the situation occurs. The name tariff, he told his audience, came from a town in Spain, the first to charge a duty on all goods brought into that town.

Mr. Bacon sketched the history of the tariff from its origin up to the beginnings of our own country. At this time our first tariff was retaliatory, or one of protest to England. Each State passed tariff laws, from 1780—1788. Pennsylvania passed fifteen such laws. After the war of Independence Alexander Hemilton.

dependence, Alexander Hamilton, in dire need of funds to run the Government, passed the first tariff to raise this money, but it also encouraged the manufacture of articles in this country and was successful from the start.

At this time we find the real arguments upon the right and wrong of the tariff—that is whether it is right and lawful to protect one class of individuals. Jefferson and Hamilton were foremost in supporting the two sides of this argument. In recent years the debate over the tariff has had nothing to do with the principle of the tariff which seems to have been settled once and for all, but over the scale of rates of the tariff.

War has always helped the tariff. Other countries at war have demanded

War has always helped the tariff. Other countries at war have demanded goods from us, and this speeded up manufactories. From the war of 1812, when blockade prevented our securing goods from England, which really was the turning point in New England's industrial history, instead of shipping being her chief industry the blockade has necessitated manufacture. Doctrine of Nulification was the outcome of the tariff of 1826. The Civil War sent the tariff away 'up. Cleveland is the outstanding President to win on tariff. President Harding o win on tariff. President Harding was the first one to try to satisfy the farmer with tariff. Hitherto industry had demanded protection.

Mr. Bacon concluded by stating the tariff.

ariff was an artificial barrier between nations, and he could see no hope of world peace until Free Trade was established, yet that would mean disaster, as such varied conditions of labor exist in the world today.

At the Club meeting on Friday last At the Club meeting on Friday last, the members present were greatly pleased to have as a soloist one of Newton's young men. Robert E. Perry rendered most delightfully: "So Long Ago," by Gallop, "Of the Rose and You," by Kern, and "My Acadia," by Lilly Strickland.

His tenor voice was well displayed in this group of songs, and he sang as an encore, "At Nightfall," by John Adams Loud.

as an encore, "At Nightfall," by John Adams Loud.

Mr. Louis P. Haight, speaker of the afternoon, said: "Walking seems to be out of date, and in these days of riding and speed, unless we do a bit more of it, we may be annoyed with some new kind of "itis."

When he resided in Topeka, Kansas, he told his audience, a few years ago the Boy Scouts told him they guessed the men of that city did not like boys, or care what became of them. He then made a special effort to call upon some of the influential men of the city, and told of the boys' needs, and asked if they would be willing to give one hour of their life to walk and talk in a friendly way to some boy upon a given date. Over 400 volunteered to do as requested, and that was the beginning of the "Walk Straight Club." Inestimable good has grown from the effort those men made, not only in the carriage of the boy, but in the mind and character as well, and it is still growing.

He demonstrated different ways one finds people sitting and walking, and told of the effect it had upon the body and nervous system. He advocated the use of less meat, and more vegetables told of the effect it had upon the body and nervous system. He advocated the use of less meat, and more vegetables and fruit and sufficient rest, that one might attain the power to care for the duties one has to perform.

All were very much interested, and the Juniors present were much enthused over the demonstrations, to the gratification of the Club members, who rejoice over their interest in alternation.

A roof of Ruberoid Strip-shingles is low priced as is consistent with high quality. Its appearance will sat-isfy the most exacting. Finally, it will give you a degree of permanence and freedom from repair, never excelled in the industry, because these shingles have the same rugged quality which has enabled innumerable Ruberoid Roofs to last, practically untouched, for nearly thirty years.

Ruberoid Strip-shingles are made in three different styles—Octab, Square-tab and Loxon. Two of these are illustrated and described above. Each style comes in three colors, imparted by the unfading slate surfacing in soft tones of sage-green, tile-red or steel-blue.

Particles in Millions

Make Up Human Body

It is that every kind of substance on earth, including the human body, is made up of invisible particles of posi-tive and negative electricity, which the scientists have labeled "protons" and "electrons." While these parti-cles grouped into atoms are too tiny to be seen, scientists have been able to count them by the flashes of light they give off when projected against a screen under a magnifying glass. These tiny units of electricity have an enormous attraction for each other, which is lucky for us, for that is what knits matter together. In fact, a Yale scientist calculates that if all the posi-tive particles of electricity in a cubic of solid matter could be sepa inch of soin matter could be separated and put in one pile, and all the negative particles of electricity contained in the same cubic inch of matter could be similarly separated, that the force of attraction between the two piles, provided they were placed one inch apart, would be thirty-six times a hundred times a million times a million times a million tons. And hard as that is to believe he is probably right about it.—Capper's Weekly.

Dances Worth Seeing

Behind the pantomime of most Java-ese dancing lingers the inspiration of Indian heroic legend, perpetuated in the Sanskrit epics. But distinc-tively Javanese are the dancers' cos-tumes of batik, silk and brocade, with fantastic gilded head-dresses. nese, too, is the melodious music of the dances.

The "siva," or dance, gives perennial joy to the pleasure-loving, flower-crowned, tattoed Samoan youth, in his sun-soaked paradise. Clad in balloon-like layers of "tapa," the befeathered Fijian woman performs a ritualistic dance in the best Fijian tradition.

The Solomon islander's dancing is dramatically barbaric, recalling the vagery and cannibalism still secret-Disciplined, not spontaneous, is dancing of the Japanese "geisha," with her gay, butterfly kimono.—Asia Mag-

A man commissioned an artist to paint his portrait, with the stipulation that he need not accept the picture less it was like him.

When the painting was finished, he was not satisfied, and refused to pay. The painter sued him, and another artist was called into court to give n expert opinion.

"Do you see that picture of my client?" asked counsel for the de-

Prehistoric Sweden

Hidden in the biggest forest on the swedish island of Oeland the remains of a Fifth or Sixth century town at Ismanstory castle are now being laid with weeds and bushes. A circular wall on limestone over 400 yards long has been revealed, and on the inclosed has been revealed, and on the inclosed area traces of 90 houses have been found, the majority of which were built up against the wall, while the others were clustered in the center. Some of the houses were divided into two or more rooms and had an arborlike gabled porch.

The Art of Life

We live amid surfaces, and the true art of life is to skate well on them. art of life is to skate well on them. Under the oldest, moldlest conventions a man of native force prospers just as well as in the newest world, and that by skill of handling and treatment. He can take hold anywhere. Life itself is a mixture of power and form and will not bear the least excess of either. To finish the moment, to find the journey's end in every step of the road, to live the greatest number of good hours, is wisdom.—Emerson.

If anybody were to ask us to suggest an ideal way of killing time we should be somewhat embarrassed for the reason that the method we would recommend is one which we ourselves have not yet seen fit to pursue. should decide finally to assert ourselves on the question of prohibition will achieve.

In jin Newton for the first time. His brother was the baggage-master and he, too, maintained that branch of the local service quite as it should be. There were other employes whom we would mark one "dry." By so doing we would finally obtain an equal number of each side of the question. This we would have reached a "tie." This would, of course, put us back exactly where we started. It would mean nothing. At that it would have as much weight as the so-called "test" now in progress in different sections of the United States. All by ourselves we should have accomplished nothing but that would be quite as much as any straw balloting on prohibition will achieve.

Upon examining the straw ballots we had marked we would be quite as certain as we were before that prohibition has come to stay and that being the case, and we trust we will be commended for our frankness, we still feel called upon to answer in advance this query that may yet be put to us. In our opinion the most perfect system of wasting the precious hours of our more or less brief existence on this earth is to engage in a straw vote on the question of National prohibition.

After having tired of such general reading as the books, magazines and newspapers at hand had to offer, after docuding the radio programs were dreary in their sameness. after exhausting our supply of cross-word puzzles, after taking a look out of the window and shivering at the gloominess of the weather and after yawning repeatedly and wondering what we could do next to keep awake, we should decide finally to assert ourselves on the question of prohibition.

We should leap for a pencil and seize the golden opportunity to mark as in the least than one familiar figure. Not extend on such than one familiar figure. Not extend on says the venerable expression, but the name of Holmes. A Civil war they would say in Virginia. A field whose owner offered no objection to trespassers was the best playground in those days. Sometimes it required a lot of walking to reach such a desirable place. But long walks were not considered. It was the objective, the possibility of the amusement that was in prospect, that made extended tramps seem as nothing. And these hikes always produced hearty appetites, especially if they led as far as the Eliot Memorial grounds or Strong's pond. There was another place, Boyd's field, that had its attractions, while a journey to Bullough's pond or through Cabot's woods offered charms that were irresistible. Now we find Newton competing with fifty-seven other municipalities for awards offered by the Playground and Recreation Association of America. And it wouldn't surprise us in the least if this city stood right up at the head of the list when the announcement of prizes was made. We are sure that when the playground movement was first started some people talked of it as a fad. They always do when a vision of the future is laid before them. Playgrounds have not proved an experiment. They have turned out to be an essential factor in the life of the youngsters. Supervised as they are the playgrounds fill an important part in the community's welfare.

It is our notion that never will all the boys—we understand their natures better—be satisfied with playgrounds or supervised play. While the spirit of mischief exists, and nothing could be done to down it completely, boys will revel in doing something out of the ordinary. If this inclination leads them to commit misdemeanors it becomes a serious problem and needs study with a view of solution. In our opinion more can be accomplished by adding to the attractions of the playgrounds rather than imposing more "don'ts" in the form of city ordinances and police regulations. We believe Newton has a splendid grasp of the question of providing diversion for young people. Whether it receives Nation

Before dismissing the subject of youthful sport we want to say a word for basehall. It strikes us that this is the period when enthusiasm is climbing higher and higher and that we must expect to see bats, gloves, masks and the other paraphernalia of this great American pastime in many a home, waiting to be put into use. We saw a very lucky father the other day. He was a citizen of prominence whose name is well known to everybdov but whose natural modesty would prompt him to say, "Don't use my name." As we have had the honor of his friendship since our own boyhood we will respect his wishes. How was he solucky, you ask? Because, when we saw him he was taking home to his small sons a baseball. Nothing wonderful in that, you say. Ah, yes there was. That baseball was a famous one—it had been handled both by Walter Johnson and "Bucky" Harris—two stars of the baseball world as everybody knows, And what is more, Messrs, Johnson and Harris had written their autographs on the ball in device the same of the same of the baseball world as everybody knows. And what is more, Messrs, Johnson and Harris had written their autographs on the ball in device the same of the same of the baseball world as everybody knows, And what is indelible ink. Think of that and just imagine what those boys said when father handed it over? Now then, everybody, "Play ball!"

For some time we have endeavored to call public attention through this column to the importance of the work of the various city departments. To that end we offered such suggestions as occurred to us, hoping that they would meet with favor. We did so believing that publicity has its value and that if the taxpayers knew where their money was going they would be more readily reconciled to paying the bills. In all we had to say along this line nothing so original and ingenious occurred to us in the way of a publicity stunt as the gum-shoe dinner arranged at the Newton Club through the activity of the present administration. ministration.

Clever press agents have always maintained that nothing like mystery maintained that nothing like mystery arouses the attention of the people. That city officials could meet and discuss department affairs under a heavy cloak of secrecy is certainly a new one. We do not know what happened at the dinner, but details are unimportant in view of the results accomplished. At last Newton people know the city is functioning and that those in charge have aired their views. Uninformed as to the circumstances those in charge have aired their views. Uninformed as to the circumstances we can only assume what occurred. No doubt the first step was to require all who attended to take an oath that nothing that took place should ever be revealed. We do not know whether the waiters were put under a similar obligation or were required to leave while the speaking was in progress. No doubt the doors and windows were closed and sealed. No doubt there was an inner and an No doubt there was an inner and an outer guard. No doubt there was a assword. What that could have been we cannot imagine. Possibly it was, password. What that could have been we cannot imagine. Possibly it was, "Say it with tax bills."

The chief point is that many expressions of opinion as to the future welfare of the city were freely expressed. Perhaps we had better withdraw the word "freely" as the dinner had to be paid for out of the city treasury. But that is a small matter and will mean little when the tax-rate is determined. ittle when the tax-rate is determined The main achievement has been to stir ip curiosity. People everywhere want to know what it was all about. That's he way to get 'em interested in the idity. Make 'em ask questions. As long as the people are eager to know ust what took place at that dinner just so long will the spotlight of pub-licity be turned on City Hall. Great tunt'. Our congraphilations to the stuff! Our congratulations to the author of this unique and successful method of exciting the taxpayers'

Newton is competing directly with fifty-seven other cities for national honors and a share in the $4650 in cash prizes and nursery stock which is to be awarded by the Playground and Recreation association of America for the greatest progress in playground beautification this year. The awards, which are contributed by the Harmon Foundation of New York City and a group of nursery companies, are divided into three classes according to the population of the competing communities. One thousand dollars in cash and $550 in nursery stock will be awarded to the eleven playgrounds which, on November 1, 1926, stand highest in each group.

Recently as we drove up Auburn treet, we passed a dead dog lying in he middle of the road. He was only light brindle mongrel, a sort of the middle of the road. He was only a light brindle mongrel, a sort of miniature bull-terrier, but he had been the recipient of some person's affection as he had been well-nour-ished, cleaned and had a neat collar on. It is to be hoped that whoever drove the auto which killed the dog, was unaware of the accident and that this was the reason the crushed carcass of the animal was left lying in the middle of the street. Many dogs chase autos or suddenly run in front of them, so drivers cannot avoid running over the animals. Unfortunately there are some autoists so "hard boiled" that they make no effort to save the life of a dog which may get in front of a car. This must be expected when there are some autoists who disdain to slacken the speed of their cars even when they approach small children or infirm old persons.

The superintendent of Newton schools, Mr | U. G. Wheeler, in commenting upon the organ said,

"I consider this organ a very necessary and important part of the equipment of our new building.

"Not only will it be invaluable as a factor in the development of musical taste and interest among our students through its daily use for assemblies.

The most important event of the legislative session recently was the favorable report by the Judiciary committee on the so called crime bills, which have been under public discussion for some weeks. It was thought by good judges of legislative action that the whole subject would be referred to a commission for further consideration. But Judiciary put one over so to speak and report favorably on some sixteen bills and the House thus far has approved that action. In his favorable comment on this action of the committee, Mr. Frank S. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles, gave Representative Luitwieler of this city high praise for his work on these measures. Another important event was the favorable report on the bill presented by the commission on the Boston Elevated situation. The committee reports the bill recommended by the commission and which, it will be recalled continues public control for a period of thirty years and reduces the rate of interest on the Elevated stock from 6 to 5 per cent. Senator Rice is a vigorous dissenter from this action and believes that no action is necessary, as in his opinion the Elevated most important event of th a vigorous dissenter from this action and believes that no action is necessary, as in his opinion the Elevated can raise the funds it needs without legislative action. Senator Rice, however, is willing to concede a ten-year extension, provided the dividends shall be placed at 4 per cent cash and 2 per cent in stock, thus giving the Elevated a larger margin to raise funds by means of bond issues. Several roll calls have been ordered this week Newton representatives voting together on all but one measure. Mr. Hollis voted in favor of a reconsideration of the vote whereby old age pensions had been defeated, while Mr. Saltonstall and Mr. Luitwieler were against such reconsideration.

The other roll calls were on reconsideration of the vote defeating the bill to require the governor and council to approve the decisions of the commission on Public Utilities (an outgrowth of the telephone rate decision of last year) on voting money for the families of deceased representatives and on the bill relative to wages paid to laborers on public works, the Newton representatives voting with the majority in the negative on all these issues.

ARTICLE No. 22

Author of Ferguson on Auction Bridge

One of the amusing things about bridge is the fact that poor players will often lose tricks in the most ingenious manner. The writer was recently watching a game in which two spades was the final declaration. The declarer should have easily made four odd, game and rubber, but by some uncanny play failed to make his bid by one trick. After the hand was over, his partner said: "Well, partner, if you could only use the same skill in winning tricks that you do in losing them, you would be the best player in the world." Some time when this result happens to you, try to figure out how the tricks were try to figure out how the ricks were the same should be the same skill and the same should be the best player in the world." Some time when this result happens to you, the same should be the best player in the world. Some time when this result happens to you, the same should be the best player in the world. A opened the seven of hearts and B won the trick with the king, Z playing the four. B now led the ace of hearts and Z played the five. What should A play and why? A should play the six of hearts. With three of your partner's suit and the lead, play the top and then the middle card, not the bottom. If A should play the deuce on the second round of hearts, Z would trump and so be able to get the trumps out before he lost his ace of diamonds. If A makes the proper play, however, of the six of hearts, B must figure that he probably also has the deuce as Z hasn't played it. B's proper play, therefore, is the five of diamonds. This play prevents Z from going game, for on the first lead of trumps B is again in the lead and must make at least one diamond trick. Note this play very carefully for it will enable you and your ARTICLE No. 23

ARTICLE No. 23 The hands analyzed in this article are certainly puzzlers. The writer has submitted them to three well-known experts and none of them agreed on any one of the hands. It is this very difference of opinion, however, that makes auction so fascinating. You will probably all make up your minds what you would do with each hand so that if you differ from the writer, think of the three experts and their differences of opinion. Auction always will be interesting because the personal element always will be dominant. It is wise to conform to conventions, but on close hands conventions are of little value and the personal opinion always will rule.

More than one trick at the most. His partner, Y, in doubling, must be depending on Z for two tricks because of his original club bid. No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one spade, A bid two hearts. Y two spades, B three hearts and Z four spades. How should A read the bidding and what is his proper bid? It should be apparent that Z considers that he has a game hand. His unnecessarily high bid of four spades over three hearts is a good indicator of his opinion. A is then placed in a position where it is practically certain that Z has a game in spades and must decide how much he is willing to sacrifice to save that game. In the actual hand A bid five hearts, was doubled by Y and lost 200 points, Z had a very unusual hand containing eight spades and five diamonds. He could have just made four spades so A's sacrifice of 200 points to save game and rubber was justifiable.

No score, first game. Z dealt and bid one club, A doubled, Y passed, and B the four. A then led the four of all the four of spades. How should Z analyze the hand and what is his proper play? Z has the choice of two plays, either to win the grades have trick with ace of spades and set up his heart suit or to pass the spade trick, hoping that A has the king. To the writer, the former play seems the better. B is marked with the ace of hearts; otherwise his bid of two clubs would have been unsound. If he also has the king of spades, 2 cannot make game for B will set up his clubs before he loses his ace of hearts, Z should return the six of hearts. B will set up his clubs before he loses his ace of hearts, Z should return the six of hearts. B will set up his clubs before he loses his ace of hearts, Z should return the six of hearts. B will set up his clubs before he loses his from Y's hand and play the jack from Y's hand and play the jack from His and A bid three hearts, Y doubled and B passed. What should be Z's analysis of the bidding and what should be his proper bid? This is a very close hand. The fact that Z's club suit is of seven cards seakes it unlikely t

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

Winter is waning—but so is enthutsiasm. This is the time of year when each of us has to shackle our energies and our ambitions lest we lose them entirely. We have managed to accomplish not a little of all we had planned for the winter but our buoyancy is gradually escaping us. Even the children are getting impatient for Spring and the freedom of summer. Many of us are guilty of dragging rather laggingly behind the procession of events and there is a tempting little feeling hovering about that says to us: "Oh well the year is nearly over—anything will do for now. Next year I'll do it better."

Now if these feelings; this waning of enthusiasm and all the rest might hot be so pernicious. But there's the rub! And there too, is the reason why we make an extra effort to be able to conclude the season with a triumphant exclamation, "There, I finished that one well, anyway!"

Yes, adults are apt to know just what is the matter with them at this time of year but the children, though they have the same feelings are not so well able to analyze and control them. They know that school seems harder than at first—that teachers are not so nice as they seemed at the beginning of the year and that shool from continuing sessions, but there their knowledge ceases. They do not know that their experience is only timely and very common—therefore—if they lose ground at this difficult time it is because we too are losing it! Can we afford to let them?

THE AUBURNDALE PLAYERS

The Auburndale Club Players were responsible for an evening of keen enjoyment to the followers of amateur dramatics when on Wednesday evening, three well contrasted and interesting one act plays were presented as one of the crowning activities of a most successful social year of the Auburndale Community Club.

Too much praise cannot be given to Mr. Ernest L. Johnson for his skillful and intelligent direction of these plays nor to the young actors for their response to Mr. Johnson's coaching, their work was uniform throughout and each of the twelve was "in character" and at ease from entrance to exit. thought that lack of idealism is failure. Immortality comes to the man who sees life clearly and whole, and although circumstances may compel us to move in a narrow sphere, our spirits may look out on wide horizons and include mankind in their sympathies. In days of old, Hosea said "where there is no vision the people perish," and it is true in our own time. Let us not be like those men and women who have missed the mark. We should be grateful to this writer who is no fatalist but shows that little by little the selfish Forsytes change their ways and that the pursuit of self-interest is a form of thought that is going out.

ABOUT TOWN

The murder death rate of the country increased from 10.8 per 100,000 in 1924 to 11.1 in 1925, the worst on record. This is another argument why we should treat our murderers with more sympathy, regard them as pathological homicides rather than criminals, realize that they kill because they have defective glands or adenoids. Chicago has the enviable distinction of leading in the number of murders committed last year—563. New York was second with 374; hardly to be classed with Chicago when population is considered. Most of the murders in Chicago are committed by the foreign element. They seem to have a slight misconception as to what Liberty means. Some of our benevolently inclined citizens appear to be reluctant to distilusionize these killers. Newton has not had a murder in two years; it stands almost alone in this respect. Which indicates that Newton has a law-abiding populace and an efficient police force.

The seventh grade science club had treat at their meeting March 26, hen Mrs. Greene, a chemist, told of er work for the United States Apraisers. This work, as it determines are rate of duty on imported articles, under the Treasury Department.

Among the many articles of inter-t shown and explained were argols

Among the many articles of interest shown and explained were argols from the wine barrels of France which become the cream of tartar of commerce; important oils, cod liver from Norway; seal from Alaska; crude sugar and molasses; iron ores; powdered porcelain; natural indigo; mohair and artificial silks, samples of cloth, paper and paper pulp.

Not only were lessons in chemistry taught, but also the fact that our nation needs the products of other countries, just as it needs its own.

The Safety Posters displayed in the lower corridor are attracting so much attention that the lessons they teach should be well learned. Every possible kind of an accident is pictured and the appropriate warning printed beneath it. These posters were made by the pupils of the sixth grade to supplement the work of the Mason Junior Safety Council.

A boy in room three, grade four, has made some excellent maps of North America. They were drawn on heaver board, shellaced, and painted, and one was finished in plasticine. The largest map, which is about five by six feet, shows the individual states in colors. The class finds these an aid in study and is jutly proud of the boy's work.

Stearns School

On Monday at the assembly Dr. Percy H. Epler, author of the "Life of Clara Barton" held the interest of his young audience for half an hour while he told them of the difficulties Miss Barton encountered in her efforts to establish the Red Cross and of her final success.

Barton encountered in her chartes establish the Red Cross and of her final success.

He succeeded in a large degree in making the children realize that "Concern for others is power."

The popularity of our "Study Trips" is certainly not waning. For the last four weeks on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons groups of children accompanied by their teachers have explored, learned, and talked of our historical and cultural surroundings. This week the "movies" have been given a generous share of attention. Miss McLaughlin and Miss Eden took groups to "Ben Hur" at the Colonial Theatre in Boston.

Several teachers motored to Melrose on Thursday evening to attend a lecture on the 6-3-3 Plan of School Organization by James M, Glass, director of Junior High Schools in Pennyslvania.

Burns & Sons also report that they have sold the two Dutch Colonial houses on Lewis Street and Newtonville Avenue, Newton, to A. I. Diner for investment. With each house is a one-car heated garage and about 7,500 square feet of land. Both properties are valued at $24,000.

Burns & Sons also report that they have sold the attractive five room bungalow situated at 17 Duffield road, Auburndale, together with 6000 square feet of land, valued at $16,000. J. E. Williams conveyed to Silas A. Bennett, who purchases for occupancy.

27TH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Edited by Dorothy Bushnell

(Written for the Issue of April 2nd)

F. A. Day Junior High School

The seventh grade dramatic club presents for this week's assembly a very charming play, "The Rescue of Princess Fairespeche." Mr. Pohlman directed an attractive stage setting. Miss Wright has coachd the play. The cast includes:

The 37th Annual Convention of the Middlesex County Christian Endeavor will be held in Lowell at the First Congregational Church on Monday, April 19, from 2 to 9 P. Mr. Colock. It is anticipated that there will be in the vicinity of 2,000 young folks in attendance as these conferences are growing more popular each year with the endeavorers, and such an interesting and varied program has been arranged that much enthusiasm will undoubtedly be manifested this year.

Otherwise they are dissimilar. Mother Earth has been tipping the scientific scales at around six million tons. No doubt, like many others, she hopes she hasn't gained any weight. ## Apple Pie Originator Deserved High Honor

An old legend tells of how the bak-rs of a certain town in England paraded before the king with their pies As the baker of the pie which pleased the king most was to receive a bag of gold, the bakers tried to outdo each other in originality.

For instance, one baker made an enormous pie crust filled with flowers, on which were seated ten children, who sang for the king. The other bakers were not far behind in their ideas of what would most please the king's eye.

The king was very tired and hun gry when he reached the town, and although he dutifully admired all the beautiful pies, he couldn't help think-ing: "If only one of these pies could be eaten!" Let it be said that until this time pies had always been made of meat. No one ever thought of having pie for dessert.

At the rear of the procession came a peasant with a plate upon which was what was obviously just a pie. The king halted him and grasped the pie baker's art, crisp and fragrant, with a golden brown crust, but the king didn't even stop to look at it. He de-voured it as if famished, and then demanded to know of what the pie was been made of apples from the tree that shaded his hut. He was too poor to make a pie of meat, much less compete with the other bakers, who had scoffed at him for joining the pa the extraordinary pie made of apples that he gave the peasant the prize, knighted him and commanded him to send one of his apple pies to the palace every day.

Witches Had Regular Periods for Meeting

In the Middle ages "covent" or "conent" was used to describe a religious assembly. Hence "Covent Garden," from the garden of a convent that once stood on the site of the famous London fruit and flower market. By degrees "coven" came to be used to describe any gathering of twelve people with a leader. In the case of witches, it came to stand for a com-pany of twelve, with their chief impersonating or representing the devil. In England, every district seems to have had its coven, and local meet-ings were usually held once a week; but the "Sabbath of Witches," held four times a year, and usually on a Thursday, for some strange reason, was the more important of the gatherings. Once in every seven years there would be what was called a "Great Sabbath," at which all the covens of a wide district would con-gregate, and tradition has it that on that occasion the chief witch or "Devil" himself was sacrificed.

Mother Robin's Bravery

In an old tree-stump a pair of robins built their nest. When the young were nearly ready to leave I heard a great commotion, and the many cries of distress from several species of birds told me that an enemy was attacking. When I reached it, the hen was standing at the entrance to her home, and with wings spread was do-ing her best to drive a weasel away. I performed the latter deed for her, but the weasel returned in the night When I saw the nest the following day I saw how gamely the robin had fought to protect her young. All the latter had been taken away by the marauder, but he had only obtained them by passing over the dead and mangled body of their mother.—London Tit-Bits.

Nute, the versatile athlete of the military school, pitched the entire game and while he was wild at times he tightened up at the critical moments and shut off potential rallies.

To Club women interested in the Fine Arts, be it Drama, Literature, or Music, the Spring Conference arranged for April 23rd, by chairmen of the State Federation, will be most fascinating. The Dorchester Woman's Club is to play hostess for the Federation on that day in their Club House, and has arranged for serving luncheon. RECENT EVENTS Loud, 67 Everett street, Arlington, Drama is the subject for the morning, the meeting opening promptly at 10.30 o'clock. Mrs. Laura Huxtable Porter will show music in connection with poetry, Mr. E. E. Clive will speak on "The Theatre of Today," and Mrs. F. Otis Drayton and Mrs. Carl L. Schrader will have the subject: "Music Pertaining to Drama." The morning is scheduled to show how closely allied are these arts, combining their individual attributes of beauty and harmony.

Luncheon will break the long session, with its chance for relaxation, and the renewing or making of friendships.

The afternoon session opens at two c'clock, and the speakers will be Mrs. Annie Russell Marble, on "The Mothers in Modern Fiction," and "The New Books" by John Clair Minot. Its aim is to promote good choral singing and to interest American composers to write choral music for women's voices, also to be of service, when desired, for State Federation, or other, meetings. It has now an enrollment of about 90 voices, under the leadership of George Sawyer Dunham. Membership is limited to 150. Thirty localities are represented. On Sunday afternoon, April 25th, at the Copley Theatre, Boston, the Choral Society will give its first public concert, with an eminent soloist promised. Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

There was a little talk the other day about children being paid for the services they render to parents or friends. One thought it all wrong to commercialize favors in such a way and form the habit of expecting recompense for everything. The other thought it an excellent way of making children quick to see opportunities of helping others, using the theory probably that bright pennies make bright children. However that may be there seems to be another side to the question; that of distinguishing between situations, of realizing when services should be paid for and when a smiling thank-you is sufficient remuneration.

A story is told of a lady who upon answering a ring of her doorbell was confronted by two small boys with shovels.

"Would you like us to shovel your walk, lady?" they asked.

"Why yes, I would," replied the lady affably. They worked like trojans on the walk and finally succeeded in making a rather jagged path through the middle. They rang the door bell again and the lady opned it part way, saying, "Thank you, boys, now run along home." What could they do without a signed contract?

Then there is another of the boy who enthusiastically offered to rescue the gentleman's hat that had blown down a hill, and when he had returned it to the owner was presented, in which the following pupils took at Ellis fried for Kipling and a Kipling programme was presented, in which the following pupils took liping and a Kipling programme was presented, in which the following pupils took liping and attighting the life of Kipling and a Kipling programme was presented, in which the following pupils took liping and a Kipling programme was presented, in which the following pupils took liping and attighting the life of Kipling and a Kipling programme was presented, in which the following pupils took liping and a kipling and attighting the life of Kipling and a stipling and antighting the life of Kipling and a stipling and antighting the life of Kipling and a kipling and a fill and when a smiling that the following pupils to

That boy had really felt an impulse to do someone a good turn. He was a little hurt to have the impulse misunderstood—though doubtless a bit later he wished he'd taken the fifty cents. EDITORIAL

The tax payers of Newton should carefully consider the propaganda now in evidence in favor of a new City Hall. We have heard talk of this nature for many years but never as strong as at present, while the fundamental conditions have changed but slightly. It is true that the offices at City Hall are cramped and uncomfortable, but the city owns the old church building next door and when the branch library moves into its new building, there will be ample space for city purposes. In addition the old auditorium of the church could easily be made into a comfortable aldernanic chamber and release the third story of the present City Hall for office use. But the chief objection to a new City Hall at the present third is the tremetidus financial outlay the city is making and must continue to make for some years, in the way of new school buildings and the constantly increasing cost of school maintenance, every new building adding greatly to this expense. We can see little relief for some years in this direction and the city may even have to go to the Legislature for authority to borrow outside the debt limit for school purposes alone. Under such circumstances, we fail to see any good reason to add to the tax payers' burdens by a new City Hall. Incidentally the average citizen wants a new City Hall merely to gratify his artistic sense, for he seldom visits the Hall in person, transacting all his business by telephone or by mail. It artistic sense, for he seldom visits-the Hall in person, transacting all his business by telephone or by mail. It should also be kept in mind that this constant agitation for a Greater Boston will steadily increase and it is possible that within a period of 25 years, we may be merely a borough of the greater city and have no need whatever for a City Hall of our own.————

In making a cut of some $276,000 from the budget as submitted by the Mayor, we fear that the aldermen may have merely postponed the making of appropriations absolutely necessary to properly serve the residents of this city. We note that the largest cut is in the Street department, $130,000 being the cut made in the mayor's figures. Some of the items cut are as follows: drains, $18,000; Street Maintenance, $15,000; Signs, $10,000; resurfacing streets, $10,000; Sidewalks, $5000; equipment, $16,000 and forestrywork, $12,000. We venture to predict that on some of these items, adwork, $12,000. We venture to predict that on some of these items, ad that the records and papers are safe from fire in this building."

The special committee conferred with the County Commissioners of Middlesex County as to the situation in the Court House and found their attitude to be that, while there is not at present any serious lack of space, they do not look upon the present Court House as adequate, and would welcome any move towards providing better facilities. They stated that it is very unlikely that the county would undertake to build a separate building for Court purposes, but they did express the opinion that, if proper quarters were provided in a new City Hall at some future time, the county would express the opinion that, if proper quarters were provided in a new City Hall at some future time, the county for such quarters, which would undoubtedly be considerably in excess of the rental which is now being paid.

It is apparent to the committee that whatever steps may be taken towards securing a new City Hall, some relief should be furnished to some of the departments in the interval which must necessarily elapse before a new City Hall can be completed. Adjoining the present City Hall is the old Congregational Church which is owned by the city under a deed which provides that work, $12,000. We venture to predict that on some of these items, additional appropriations will have to be made before the year is closed.

The Buildings Commissioner estimates that the cost of making these changes will be $4450. The committee recommended that these changes be made and the money be appropriated. Regarding a new City Hall, the Committee reported:—

In the Buildings department, there is a cut of $24,000 of which $14,000 is for work on other city buildings. There is a cut of $29,000 in the Police department, $5800 being for new overcoats and $5000 for a new ambulance. both matters of importance. In the Fire department $22,000 is cut. The Health department receives a cut of $10,000 of which $4500 was in the Care of Disease. Charity is cut $5200 in its new book item. Schools lose $21,000, which is relatively small on a total appropriation of over a million dollars. Playsrounds lose $21,000, which $10,000 was taken from construction work. Accounting is cut $2000 most on refusing increased salaries. The Treasury is cut $6000, the City Clerk $2000 and the Engineer $2000.

We have received an anonymous letter complaining about the selling of newspapers in Newton Centre on Sundays. It is our rule not to use articles without the name of the writer being sent us as a matter of good faith. Our unknown correspondent should take the matter up with the Police Department, $2000 and the Engineer seiter at City Hall.

A SINEENING SERMICE.

"In making these recommendations the committee wishes to make it clear that they are not seeking hasty action, that they hope that the committee which is appointed to select a site will seek the advice of an advisory committee of citizens and that, if it seems advisable, additional hearings will be held by the committee in various parts of the city, to the end that everyone may have an opportunity to be heard on the subject, and that all aspects of the question may have the fullest consideration before a decision is reached."

Work in the X-ray room and in the laboratories of the hospital is being carried on in a splendid fashion. Dr. West said, under the most adverse conditions. sularly admired. The alto part as usual at these concerts was finely rendered, and the tenors and basses, who had a prominent part in many portions of the score, were unusually effective.

The orchestra did splendid work, and presented this beautiful score with correct appreciation of its wonderful descriptive quality as an interpretation of its great theme. The final chorus of the oratorio is one of the grandest compositions in the history of music, and the chorus and orchestra seemed to rise to a new height in the presentation of this thrilling climax. The dramatic scenes of the march to Calvary, the darkness and the earthquake, were presented with fine feeling for the sentiment of these massages. The famous chorus "Unfold Ye Portals," was given with a sonorous dignity, and Mrs. Leadbetter's pure and high soprano was heard most appropriately repeating the words from the celestial choir, asking the question "but who is he the king of glory." The famous chorus "Lovely Appear" was given with synactial expression, and the women's chorus was very effective in the joyful song, "The Lord He is Risen Again."

The success of the concert was of course largely due to the enthusiasm and inspiration and technical skill of the director, Mr. William Lester Bates.

Several more petitions for residence zones to be placed in business districts were heard at the last meeting of the aldermen. For a second time Rose Lehan asked to have her property at the corner of Washington street and Quinobequin road changed from the single residence to a business zone. And for the second time Joseph Congdon appeared in opposition. Miss Lehan was represented by James P. Gallagher who explained that his client's property contains 34,000 feet of land, has a frontage of 120 feet on Washington street and is in what must essentially develop into a business district. Mr. Gallagher state that this property is in the heart of Lower Falls, that the state plans to have the proposed truck highway pass this point and that there is little likelihood of better class residences being erected in this neighborhood. He argued that not much attention had been given to the future possibilities of this section when it was zoned and that owners of property should be given an opportunity to develop their holdings in a reasonable manner. Attorney Galiagher said: "Persons owning either 7500 feet or 1,000,000 feet of land are entitled to an equal consideration from the aldermen." He said, "If the corner of Washington street and Quinobequin road is in Washan, where in the name of the Waban, where in the name of Lord is Newton Lower Falls?" Al Lord is Newton Lower Falls?" Alderman Heathcote asked City Solicitor Bartlett if it is not illegal to make a change of zone on just one lot? Mr. Bartlett answered in the affirmative. Joseph F. Lockett asked that land bounded by Greenlawn avenue, the Cochituate acqueduct, Beacon street, and Walnut street, be changed from general residence and business districts to single residence zone. He explained that he and his fellow petitioners will be glad to yield to the Newton Cemetery Corporation so that its property will not be included in the restriction and also to the Jenney Gasoline Company, which owns land 8 months.

Mr. Gallagher again took the floor; this time as attorney for Gertrude Cohen who owns 27,000 feet of land on Beacon street. He said, "Mrs. Cohen deserves some sympathy; she was in business for eight years across the street, built up a business there, had to vacate and now desires to erect a business block on her property on Beacon street. This would be a happy solution as it would place this business block on street. This would be a happy solution as it would place this business building as a buffer between the filling station and the residence zone."

Mr. Lockett took the floor a second time to remark, "I know Mr. Gallagher is one of Newton's most dis-ness building as a butter between the zone."

Mr. Lockett took the floor a second time to remark, "I know Mr. Gallagher is one of Newton's most distinguished attorneys; the lady for whom he makes his tearful appeal, sold her property to someone to put up a gasoline station. While we would like to accommodate one who has done so well, we can't accept his very kind suggestion." Alderman Madden asked Mr. Lockett regarding the zoning of the land owned by the cemetery corporation, and was told by that gentleman that the petitioners have confidence enough in the cemetery authorities to feel that they will co-operate with them. Mr. Gallagher replying to Mr. Lockett, said, "I acknowledge the rhetorical nosegay and I am overwhelmed by his kind treatment, but this is tinctured by some disappointment by his wandering from facts. # Trainmen Have "Lingo" Absolutely Their Own

One of the picturesque features of railroading is the terminology used by railroad men themselves to describe things which are known to the traveler in an altogether different tongue The engineer, known to his associates as "eagle eye," "hog-head" and "throt tle puller," gets assistance in running his "mill," "kettle" or "battleship" from the fireman, who answers to "diamond pusher" and "tallow pot."

The brakeman as "ground hog" or 'car catcher," rides in the "doghouse' or "buggy," synonymous for caboose The yardmaster, familiarly, "switch boy," gives out orders from hi boy," gives out orders from his "knowledge box."

Passengers ride in "varnished cars' and view the surroundings from the "rubberneck car." Freight is transported in the "sidedoor pullman" and coal in the "whale belly."

In the switch yards cars are "shuffled up" or "sawed off." The railroader "freezes the hub" when a hot box develops and "wings her" in case the emergency brakes are required.

At quitting time he "pins for home" and on leaving the service "pulls the pin."-Boston News Bureau.

High Standard of Justice

British justice sets up high standards for itself, as is illustrated by a story that appeared in a recent issue of the Manchester Guardian. "Mr. J Sharpe, the Tower Bridge magistrate, the article reads, "gave a lecture to all concerned on Wednesday as to the necessity of keeping a prisoner's anteedents from the knowledge of court until he had been found guilty There is, of course, no more elemen-tary principle of English justice than this. Once at the central criminal court Mr. Russell Gurney remarked to a man who had just been acquitted of burglary: 'You are a very fortunate man. I know all about you. You have been convicted three times be-The words were no sooner out of his mouth than he was told that there were further indictments agains the prisoner, but as it was impossible that he could now receive a fair trial he was discharged."

Fat and Genius Akin?

The relation between feeding and genius, which Sir Arthur Keith England has been stressing of late, was noted long ago by Theophile Gau-tier, who, himself exceedingly stout, contended that all true men of genius should be fat. In support of his theory he cited the elder Dumas, "always fat and jolly," that "more bar-rel than man," Balzac, and "that hip-popotamus in breeches," Rossini, as well as the plump and well-fed Victor Hugo and Sainte-Beuve. A more re-cent critic has declared that Zola did all his best work when he was very stout, and that his talent dwindled with his physical bulk. On the other hand, why is "fat-witted" an adjective which means the very opposite in the Atlanta Constitution.

Marvelous Brain

The brain is a curious organ. It is almost insensible to pain, for one thing, and it is much less subject to disease than the rest of the body is Even when there is definite brain trou-ble, it is often impossible to detect in the brain tissue any alteration of substance. It is also very difficult to ex haust the brain by intellectual work provided the other organs are in a healthy condition. Finally, the brain loes its work on an exceedingly small amount of substance. Sir Arthur Keith, the British surgeon, has put the fact very graphically by saying that the energy contained in an ounce of sugar would be enough to produce on of Shakespeare's plays if it should find its way to a brain as gifted as Shake-speare's was.—Youth's Companion.

An actor fell in love with a chorus irl who did not return his affection. "It's plain enough, my dear," re-plied the unabashed suitor, "but it isn't English, you know."

ABOUT TOWN

A large number of persons cross A large funder of persons cross Washington street at Centre, by the building of the Newton Trust Company. In fact, there are few street crossings in the city more used than the one at this place. But there is nothing there to indicate that a cross walk is supposed to exist at this locawalk is supposed to exist at this locaion. Two white lines were painted ecross the street, but they have long across the street, but they have long since become obliterated. Incidentally, the price of paint must be prohibitive, it is used so sparingly in defining cross walks and parking spaces in this city. As this cross walk is not defined either by signs or cross lines, autoists park their machines at all hours of the day next to the curb on the north side of Washington street by Briggs Cigar Store. No room is left for pedestrians to cross without making a detour around the automobiles. It would not be a bad idea to have two signs placed on the sidewalk at the place where the cross walk is at the place where the cross walk is supposed to be. These signs would supposed to be. These signs would warn autoists not to park where they will obstruct foot traffic.

Complaints are being made about the manner in which drivers of trucks from ice cream manufactories dump to conduct their business activities. Miniature shops are operated in automobile trucks by persons from other cities. They sharpen knives and tools, mend umbrellas and perform other jobs of a like nature. Small engines are used to operate the grindstones and these motors have no mufflers on their exhausts. The result is—that the chug-chug of these engines will continue in business sections for an hour or more at a time. This noise ther exhausts. The result is—that the church and "Jerusalem, My continue in business sections for an hour or more at a time. This noise does not tend to sooth the nerves of those who must endure it. If automobile operators can be arrested for using cutouts on the exhausts of their motors, why are the owners of these "sharpening shops" permitted to ignore the law?

The unusual spectacle of a house being moved on one of our busiest streets will be observed during the next couple of days. The house will extract the salt of the concert.

next couple of days. The house will travel along Washington street and down Jackson road. All the bays and ells on this house were lopped off to permit of its passage on these two streets. The Washington street end of Jackson road has been attractively shaded in late years. The arching trees which formed a graceful canopy of foliage over this locality were trees which formed a graceful canopy of foliage over this locality were planted when the street was constructed about 30 years ago. Jackson road was constructed on land that formerly was included in the Jackson. Potter and Maskell estates. The Jackson estate was the property of one of the pioneer families of Newton and the fine old colonial homested on and the fine old colonial homested on and the fine old colonial homestead on Washington street is one of the few emaining specimens of its type in this vicinity.

The Potter estate, or estates, were owned by John Cheney Potter and J. Sturgis Potter. They were purchased by Joseph Flanagan, who spent a fortune in modernizing and improving they become a fortune in modernizing and improving them. Before Mr. Flanagan acquired these properties, an attempt was made to have the city buy the back part of the Sturgis Potter property as a site for the Stearns School. As most of the pupils in the Stearns school district resided in Nonantum, this site would have been quite out of the way for them. Strong opposition to this proposal came from Nonantum residents. Before Jackson road was constructed, the land where it was proposed that the school be located, was not the driest place in Newton. In fact, it was quite boggy. One well-known resident of Nonantum hurled the most telling argument against placing the Stearns School on this site when he said, "It is customary to buy land by the square foot, but if the city have this land, livid most. Before Mr. Flanagan ac buy land by the square foot, but if the city buys this land, liquid meas-ure must be used."

There is a traffic rule in Newton forbidding the parking of automobile on bridges. Have you noticed any autos parked on the bridge over the B. & A. tracks at Washington street, West Newton?

Two members of the Franchise and Two members of the Franchise and License Committee of the 1925 Board of Aldermen declined to run for reelection to this year's Board. They were Alderman Henry Lloyd, Chairman of the Committee and Alderman Earl Parker of Ward 5. Both these men were opposed to the promiscuous greating of premits to gasoline filling granting of permits to gasoline filling stations. Before leaving the Board, they influenced their colleagues to pass a resolution restricting the granting of additional permits within a half mile of existing gasoline sta-tions; which resolution the new Board of 1926 promptly ignored. With the departure of Messrs. Lloyd and Parker from the aldermen and the License Committee, it was expected that persons seeking easy and large profits through the medium of gaso profits through the medium of gasoline filling station permits, would have a much easier time in obtaining the "easy pickings." On the License Committee of the 1926 Board are four new members. And, to date, the new committee has been even more reluctant to grant filling station permits than was the 1925 committee. And than was the 1925 committee. And, not only has this committee shattered not only has this committee shattered the fond hopes of expectant recipients of valuable franchises, but its members have displayed a visible resentment at what they construe as an attempt to usurp their prerogatives by other members of the Board.

So the program read, and soon after "ye entrance was open, at early can dle-lyte," people began to assemble to see the "olde folkes," dressed in the costumes of seventy-five years ago and to hear the sweet songs of bygone days. The guests were ushered to their seats by eight young ladies. the dirty, salty water and ice alongside the sidewalks in the business sections of this city. Possibly they have a perfect right to do this, but it does not improve the appearance of the streets. Kicks are also being heard about the mobile machine shops which are using the streets of Newton to conduct their business activities. Miniature shops are operated in automobile trucks by persons from other cities. They sharpen knives and tools, mend umbrellas and perform other jobs of a like nature. Small engines are used to operate the grindstones and these motors have no muffers on them all to meet the singers informally after the concert.

WANT FOOTBRIDGE AT CRESCENT STREET

The wedding of Mr. William H. Chapple, Jr., of Hillside road, Newton Highlands and Miss Marie Louise Kellogg, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Kellogg of Belmont, took place Wednesday afternoon at the Belmont Methodist Church, where the ceremony was performed at three o'clock by Rev. Joseph Imler.

The bride was accompanied by her cousin, Mrs. William J. Beverly of Belmont as matron of honor and the best man was Mr. Richard F. Chapple of Newton Highlands, brother of the groom. The arrest a week ago, by special police of the Boston & Albany Railroad, of five boys for trespassing on the property of the railway company, has caused renewed agitation for a foot bridge over the B. & A. tracks at Crescent street. There is no street crossing the railroad tracks between Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, and Washington street, West Newton. Persons residing in the section along Auburndale avenue, Webster and Pline streets, who attend St. Bernard's Church, are compelled to make a long detour. Many arrests have been made in past years of persons who were avoiding a long walk by crossing the railway at Crescent street.

The new west side junior high school will be attended by many children from those parts of West Newton and Auburndale which would be greatly accommodated if a foot bridge or underpass will be constructed to connect, the south section of Crescent street with the north section. Alderman Noone of Ward 4 is starting and

The members of the Newton Rotary Club were entertained and instructed at the weekly luncheon on Monday at the Woodland Golf Club, by Mr. R. M. Beach of the University Press, who talked on advertising. Mr. Beach said that the test of advertising is the bringing in of business. He compared advertising by the printed word with personal salesmanship and stated that the same principles underlaid both. There were four steps to good advertising: first, get the attention of your prospect; next his interest; arouse a desire for your goods and then action on the dotted line. This phase of his talk was illustrated by some interesting charts.

talk was illustrated by some interesting charts.

Mr. Beach said that a mere sign or a business card could not be termed advertising. Circulation itself was not sufficient, it was merely a vehicle to carry the message. He believed that mere pep and punch, without a good buying reason brevity and a boastful tone did not obtain results. In conclusion he advised a carefully worked out plan, consistently followed up, with a knowledge of the product and of the field would bring satisfactory results. Colonel F. W. Stopford, Commander of Newton Post, is in charge of the military ceremonies at the opening game at Braves Field, on April 21, 1926, and he has issued an invitation to all servicemen to be his guests at the game on this date.

Albert Cunningham of Newton Post is forming a rifle club for the local post, and already members are signing up in this club.

There will be that real proof of a party, refreshments, and the added intrigue of favors. Also there will be general dancing to be indulged in by all. A special program for the children who have been secured again this year, so much was his program enjoyed last year. The orchestra will be in charge of Mr. Louis Haffermehl. Written by LEVERETT D. G. BENTLEY

We semetimes hear the home town by any prevision of the General Laws we never pare not consist, and the control of alleitingly of the Commonwealth, but which are Jokes at its expense are not normally an axe to grind. "Washing political with pride if something they have done is praised at length in the columns of their local sheet. And they done is praised at length in the columns of their local sheet. It is when a former resident, who still subscribes, writes back home from a faraway place that we learn something of the sentiment attached to the home town newspaper. Such the news of the people with whom the ence lived; how are they getting along, what has happened to them; who's married and who has passed on; what have been the changes and has the place grown? Surely it means a great deal—this link that reaches from one's heart back to the place. and to all whom it may concern:

Whereas, a petition has been presented to said Court by Norman E.
Dupee, of said Newton, to register and confirm his title in the following deseribed land: municipality to have constant of Legislative interference with local affairs. Unfortunately there are cases when special bills are demanded. The law is pretty drastic on some matters, particularly those affecting money, and a city or town has no alternative but to go to the General Court and request that it be enabled to proceed. In that way the State keeps a close In that way the State keeps a close which is well, as fair-minded folk will agree.

There are many, many bills intromagnetic many that are not demanded to the clouds gather and a heavy rain storm descends.

"You had something to say concerning the ideal way of killing time and you pointed out that marking straw ballots on the question of prohibition as about as useless an occupation as anything could be," writes "Mrs. I J. R." "Here are a few things which to me seem equally trivial in that they don't get you anything: "Washing windows just before the clouds gather and a heavy rain storm descends."

Seekers of the celestial on earth are now busy reading those beautifully printed and gorgeously illustrated travel folders which are bobbing-up everywhere just one or two jumps ahead of the crocusses and the narcissuses. yearning to "go somewhere." It provides hours and hours of day-dreaming, months of saving, weeks of planning and a lot of other thrills that start when the inspiration first comes and ends not until long after you have reached home again.

Vivid mental pictures are painted of the wonders of far-off lands! The further distant, the more vivid the imaginings. "How perfectly glorious it must be!" the would-be wanderer exclaims. We have heard many similar eestatic utterances and we have read others. The highest point, the "peak" as the efficiency experts would call it, is, in our opinion, attained by the writer of a booklet on Australia. Until we absorbed this writer's output we had thought that nothing in this mundane sphere approached the ideal. But we were wrong. This beats 'em all, as the up-and-coming salesman would say."

"Australia is a climatic paradise," this enthusiastic booster declares. With a typography so diversified it might naturally be expected that climate will vary with latitude and latitude, but the records of temperature, extending over many years, conclusively prove that, taking latitude and latitude—etc., etc." The writer's delirium we do not expect to feel untit we have "taken latitude and latitude." We must admit we are somewhat at a loss to know how to take what at a loss to know how to take a latitude, let alone two or more latitudes. Maybe we will try after we get through the spring medicine the family doctor has prescribed.

But we pass on to learn from this booklet that "if it is desired, some form of rural production can be undertaken in the neighborhood of one of the large cities, thus combining profitable employment and a safe form of investment with the comforts and

Then we find: "For a man with capital to invest and a family to educate and start in life, there are many attractive propositions. Newton has become famous becau ecently published statistics show s one of the few municipalities the United States where there hasn' been a murder for more than tw years. We hope that nothing will occur to spoil that splendid record, but we must say it makes us a trifle nervous to read of exciting debates among the Board of Aldermen.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE

Editor of The Graphic:

Now I can understand why circumstantial evidence may be all wrong.

In The Graphic, at present, a legal advertisement is running, under the caption, "Mortgagee's Sale," in which my wife and I appear to be people who forget that banks that hold first mortgages on homes have to exist. In other words, a West Newton bank has advertised a house in Riverside to be auctioned off for our failure to meet demands on a mortgage note.

nands on a mortgage note. Legally the bank is right. Of course, Legally the bank is right. Of course, The Graphic is in no way involved. But, the facts are these. The property in question was sold by me on November 5, 1925, to a Brookline man; the same man from whom I bought the house in which I am now living. He holds the deed to the Auburndale house, although the note, it is true, is still in my name, Records at Middlesex Probate court will substantiate these statements.

Thus, we are in the position of being.

Thus we are in the position of being dead-beats, although entirely innocent of any acts that would bring about this Undoubtedly you have spacious Undoubtedly you have spacious wastebaskets in your office. If they are entirely filled up, perhaps you might, as a favor to another newspaperman, publish this. Yes, circumstantial evidence is the bunk.

FRONTIERS OF KNOWLEDGE

'Frontiers of Knowledge' by Jess "Frontiers of Knowledge" by Jesse Lee Hennett is one of, the katestyreading courses in the "Reading with a Purpose series added to the Newton Free Library shelves. "Two groups of people will be particularly attracted to this course," says Mr. Lucht, the librarian. "The first will be those who have never had an opportunity to learn what history science art philosophy. what history, science, art, philosophy and the rest are all about. The second will consist of those who have an acquaintance with these subjects, but who want to understand more clearly the relative of one to the other. the relation of one to the other, and the relation of all of them to daily

In this course the author gives the reader a bird's-eye view of the whole expanse of knowledge, pointing out the area and boundaries of the various fields of history, science, psychology, philosophy, art, literature, sociology, etc. He also shows their position with relation to one another and to the whole. For a closer view and study of each field he has chosen and recommended a certain book,—ten in all.

ARTICLE No. 24

Some time ago the writer heard of the dummy playing the hand, instead of the declarer, and that the mistake was not discovered until the completion of the fourth trick. An even more astonishing error has just been brought to the writer's attention. Z dealt and bid one diamond, A bid two clubs and all passed. For some unknown reason, A got it into his head that Z had obtained the final bid so led to the first trick. What is still more remarkable, the other players didn't notice the error and Z proceeded to play the hand and with clubs as trumps. At the completion of

No score, first game. Z dealt and passed, A bid one no-trump, Y doubled and B passed. Z bid two hearts, A and Y passed and B bid two no-trump. Z and A passed and Y now decided that it was a good time for a trick bid. He figured that if he bid three hearts, his opponents would probably pass and that game would be impossible. On the other hand, if he bid three clubs, he would probably get doubled, and then if he bid three hearts, his opponents would also double that and thus give him game if he made the bid. For those reasons, he bid three clubs and sure enough, B doubled. Z now got scary and bid three dimonds which A doubled. Y now had the chance he had planned for so bid three hearts. B doubled three hearts and all passed. A had the opening lead and here's where the rick bid acted as a boomerang for A decided that he would lead the ace of elubs because of his partner's double of three clubs. His natural opening irrespective of the three clubs' double was the ace of spades so that the only effect of V's trick bid was to indicate to his opponents the only lead that would defeat the three hearts bid. The club lead

NEWTON DEFEATS ENGLISH

The Newton High School baseball team pinned a 6 to 3 defeat on the Boston English high school nine Wednesday afternoon on Claffin Field. Bob Pickard started in the box for Newton and pitched good ball. His teammates gave him a two run lead, in the second inning when Proctor and Shaw each connected for a single. Stubbs scored Proctor with a long sacrifice fly and Shaw counted on a similar play by Pickard.

In order to save Pickard for Saturday's affair with Everett Dickinson sent McCleary to the box and Pickard took Stubbs' place in right field at the start of the seventh inning. McCleary got in bad from the start by passing Nemzoff, the first batter for the Boston team. Karchunes connected for a triple scoring his teammate. He later tied up the score when he crossed the plate on Crowley's sacrifice fly.

the Newton Pals journeyed to Hyde Park, and decisively trounced the Sunnyside C. C. by the score of 16 to 3. Bob Schlieparka hurled for the local team and did a masterful job, allowing only 4 hits, while his teammates pounded two Hyde Park pitchers for 22 hits. Lyman and Butler fielded brilliantly for the Pals. On Monday afternoon, April 19th, the Newton Pals journeyed to Needham, and scored a clean-cut victory over the Needham Town Team, defeating them by a score of 9 to 6. Playing errorless ball behind the superpitching of "Jakey" Pass, the Pals outplayed the Needham team at every turn in the game, and won a well-earned victory. Pass was immense in this, his second start of the season, striking out 11 men and allowing only 3 hits. Butler, McLean, Murphy and Lyman did most of the hitting for the Pals, while "Jamie" Lyman contributed a running catch in the sixth inning that was a feature of the game.

His while at work in one of the gardens given to his care, on Oxford road. His passing merits a word of appreciation, especially from the Newton Centre Unitarian Church, whose sexton he had been for three years or more. Born in Sweden, he came to America about twenty-two years ago, and had lived practically all the intervening years in Newton Centre. His pathway had been that of a sincere worker in and helper of the community. Called upon to take care of gardens and dwellings, he gave his conscience and his time to doing his work well, and kept always the serene spirit of one who dignified his calling. He was possessed of an inner calm and contentment that showed the strength of his faith in God. In his service as sexton of the church he was painstaking and always courteous even when conflicting demands taxed his time and energy. He will be remembered by its people with affection.

ARTICLE No. 25

How many players thoroughly understand the type of hand that justifies a fourth hand bid, when the first three players have passed? One expert claims that many more games are lost by failure to bid in this position than is generally realized. If such is the case, what is the real test of a sound fourth hand bid? Most of the authorities seem to stress the importance of having a game-going hand before opening the bidding fourth hand. They say: "Don't make an original fourth hand bid unless you can go game." The writer is of the opinion that this view is unsound. The real test is: "Can I save game if I open the bidding, irrespective of what my opponents may bid?" If you can answer that question in the affirmative, you have a sound fourth hand bid but not otherwise. Why

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and passed, as did A and Y. B, the expert, was now up against a pretty problem. Ninety-nine players out of one hundred would have passed, but not the expert. He figured that if the other three hands were evenly divided as to strength, there was little chance for his opponents to go game. On the other hand, he would need very little help from his partner to make game. B bid one heart and all passed. Z opened the queen of diamonds and B made four odd in hearts and thus profited by his bold fourth hand bid.

No score rubber game. Z was playing the hand at diamonds and six tricks had been played. Z knew that A had no hearts or diamonds and that B had no diamonds. He did not know how the spades or clubs were divided. He had already lost one trick so that if he was to make game, he could only lose one more trick. Y, the dummy, is in the lead. How should Z play the hand so that he can go game against any defense? Z should play the four of clubs from Y's hand and cover any club

Clubs are trumps and Z is in the lead. How can he win all five tricks against any defense? Z should lead his ten of clubs. On this trick, A should discard the four of spades, Y the seven of spades and B is forced to discard the tree of hearts. He cannot discard a diamond or both of Z's diamonds would be good. Z should then lead the jack of diamonds. A is now forced to discard either a heart or the ten of spades. If he discards the former, all of Y's hearts

SCHOOL NOTES

Edited by DOROTHY E. BUSHNELL

There is often a great bulky volume in a secluded corner of our household which is more frequently used to give small members greater height or to flatten pasted pages than for the purpose it was meant. The poor old dictionary, whose dusty covers look too forbidding to invite perusal, is very sadly abused and neglected. Something ought to be done about it! Things continue to be "very nice" (meaning refined, fastidious, or cultured) whether they are seven course dinners, areoplanes, sausages or sermons. Sunsets, dresses, foods, theatres, or oceans are all described by "lovely" (meaning loving, lovable or over-dainty). About the only place "adore" (meaning to worship with great reverence) is not used, is in the place it is appropriate; that is in church! "Adoration" is lavished upon ice-cream sodas, ukeleles or new shoes, whichever happens to be to the fore. And all these absurdities take place while we sit on the dictionary or turn its enlightening pages only to find something we put in there to press.

Somebody adds a word or two to his vocabulary and tries to use them in conversation. If he escapes without someone saying to him, "What's the matter? Have you swallowed the dictionary?" he will be a marvel. Strange that a generation so prone to finding enjoyment in things that are new and un-hackneyed, can so per-

Have you swallowed the dictionary?" he will be a marvel. Strange that a generation so prone to finding enjoyment in things that are new and un-hackneyed, can so persecute and wear out to the point of ruination, perfectly "nice, lovely, adorable, and wonderful" words! Yes, something really ought to be done about this poor old dictionary. Ah! here it is! Let the "movies" dramatize it. Let someone advertise it as he most glaring, daring thing in print! he most glaring, daring thing in Then listen to its pages turn!

Stearns News

Mrs. Goode, who established on her own estate in Sharon a "Bird Sanctuary" some years before the large sanctuary for birds was set aside in that town, talked to the teachers of the Stearns School last week about the birds and flowers of this locality. Her stories of the birds, and their habits and their individualities were especially interesting. It was surprising to learn what a great variety of birds we have; and astonishing to realize how quickly the various birds learn that they are safe from molestation in certain protected sections; with result that they soon become very tame and friendly. By banding some of the birds Mrs. Goode found that the same birds come back to her year after year often nesting in the same spot.

This talk was the result of an earlier visit to the school by Mrs. Goode when she came in the interest of the Audubon Bird Clubs, which she hopes to organize in the Newton School. Already eighty pupils in the Stearns School have joined the Club.

As part of the activities of "Be Kind to Animals Week" Miss Eden's class entertained an assembly with recitations and original compositions.

The "original" part of the programme was especially good, and gave evidence of Miss Eden's splendid leadership.

The two assemblies on Friday were devoted to the celebration of Patriot's Day. The Eliot School provided the entertainment at the first of these; opening with a March played by the 'kinder orchestra,' whose instruments were bells, triangles and tambourines. Some of the older children then gave a little play called "April." The programme was concluded when the 4th rade boys' chorus sang "The Good Old U. S. A."

In the afternoon the Stearns pupils In the atternoon the Steams pupils and patriotic songs, and groups of children recited Longfellow's "Ride of Paul Revere" and Emerson's "The Concord Hymn." Miss Walker's class presented a little play, "Nature and the Poet," and Miss Stuart's class gave some charming folk dances: aftesting S. some charming folk dances; attesting her skill in drilling the children in these old and fascinating dances.

Altho the weather does not indicate it. Spring is most certainly here. The annual prize marble tournament, conducted by the Boston Traveler, is only a few weeks away. In preparation to make competition keen, the boys at the Mason School have already formed their own room and school contests. The winners will be sent to the Newton meet, and from there to Boston. Such interest as has developed cannot help but bring forth a future champion.

A delightful litle play entitled "Cinderella" was given recently by Miss Jenkyn's room. The chief characters were Rosalind Bigelow. Alice Hamilton. Violet Sabini, Rosalind Roulston and Gertrude Burnstill. Several dancers at the Prince's Ball helped to delight the audience of fifth grade pupils. The boys of the Mason School have finished collecting funds for athletic equipment for the four schools of this district. Vice-President of the Centre, presided in the absence of the President, and introduced the first speaker. Mr. Kenelm Winslow Principal of the School. Mr. Winslow spoke of the school as related to welfare work and gave a most encouraging account of what was being accomplished. The Conference, which is an informal group, formed by representatives of the organizations of the Welfare
Division of the Council and some others, has met each month for a year, except in the summer, for the purpose of discussing the welfare problems of Newton from a practical point of view, and of bringing about greater co-operation between the different social and health agencies of Newton. Since the Conference had been in exisence for a year, it was suggested that nominations for officers for the coming year were in order, and the following were elected: Chairman, Mrs. Louis H.

Research Secretary, Mrs. Cecil W.

Research Secretary, Mrs. Cecil W. Clark.

Mrs. Marshall took the Chair and called upon Miss Peloubet, Office Secretary of the Council, who gave a short account of the beginnings of the Conference and its development. During the year meetings had been held at the Community Welfare Centre in Newtonville, the West Newton Community Centre, the Hospital, the Technical High School, the Y. W. C. A., and the Newton Centre Woman's Club, under the auspices of the Social Service Committee of the Club.

The special program of the afternoon was the "Welfare Problems Review," under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Ross, Acting Research Secretary of the Conference. Cases which had been brought up during the year were presented in order, and on each there was a report of progress, or an informal discussion by various persons who had had contacts with the case. The City Treasurer was authorized to receive from Almarin Trowbridge $140.60 to pay in part for improving the corner of Centre and Sargent streets. ### WOMEN'S CLUBS

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

On Sunday afternoon, April 25th, at the Copley Theatre, Boston, the Federated Choral Society makes its bow to the Club women of the State. This is the latest achievement of the State Federation, and the Music Chairman, Mrs. F. Otis Drayton is the one to whom is due the praise for this idea of presenting to us the musical genius in our midst. Already some one hundred singers have joined the happy throng, and about 30 localities are represented. The Society is to represented. The Society is to limited to 150, so that Clubs who

NEWTON FEDERATION

On Tuesday morning the Newton Federation held its last Executive Board meeting before annual meeting, at the Newton Club, Newtonville, with an unusually small attendance. Delegates welcomed home the recording secretary, Mrs. Herbert S. Kimball, who has been in California for some months. After the usual reports of officers, the Chair announced the date of Annual Meeting, May 11th, and stated that reports of five minutes, as has been the custom of the past, from officers and chairmen would be in order, at that time. Presidents were requested to report outstanding afgroup. The concert is to be given under the leadership of Mr, George Sawyer Dunham, and the assisting artists will be Walter Kidder, Baritone; Miss Marjorie Boutelle, Soprano; and Miss Ethel Peacock, Contralto.

Press

May 13th, at 7.30 o'clock, in a private dining-room of the New Ocean House, Swampscott, there will be a Press Breakfast, for Club press chairmeh, or presidents, if the chairmen do not attend the State Annual Meeting, or for other interested Club women who notify Miss Gwendoline Albee, 14 Bowdoin street, Worcester, before May 1st, that they desire to enjoy this repast of wit and wisdom, and secrets of press tales.

Newtonville Woman's Club

The Annual Play of the Newton-ville Woman's Club, given for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund, was given Friday and Saturday April 16th and 17th, in Players' Hall, West Newton. The choice of "Bar-num Was Right" was a happy one, the play being entirely new to the audi-ence, and one that combined the elements of laughter, surprise, mys-

The opening scene at Locke's Long Island cottage shows Samuel Locke harrassed by money troubles, urging his daughter Miriam to consider favorable, the attractions of the worlds. orably the attentions of the wealthy Seymour Standish, although she prefers Fred Farrell, a penniless suitor. She finally yields and consents to go on a cruise with the Standishes. Before leaving, there is the love scene with Fred, and Mr. Locke's violent protestations. The matter ends with the agreement to a separation, after which Fred declares that Mr. Locke will some day beg him to marry Miriam. April 29th is the day when all who love gardens, flowers, british, or the forests, will climb Cedar Hill. Waltham, for a revel in these wonderful things. Perhaps it is unwise to say this, for there will be many such lovers who will think wistfully of that hill on that day, and whose thoughts will turn longingly thitherward, but who, in spite of their desire, will be obliged to go elsewhere on other duties intent. But it is safe to say that all who can break other engagements, or forget minor duties, will gladly run away for this joyous spring outing.

Directions for reaching Cedar Hill, include taking Waltham car, leaving at Beaver street, or take taxi direct to Cedar Hill from Waverley, it one goes to the latter place. Your sweaters arrived at the time when we were most in need of them (January). As you undoubtedly know (January). As you undoubtedly know all of our men here are tubercular. To keep them comfortably clad and warm requires a great many knitted articles, especially with the large group of men that we have here (about 355 patients with new admissions every day). Mr. Riley has had a remarkable success as a lecturer, and has appeared before such organizations as the Union League club and Yale club of New York city, Boston City club, and Appalachian Mountain club of Boston, the Army and Navy club of Washington, Columbia university, National Press club, Vassar college, and numerous Rotary and Kiwanis clubs. A request for the repetition of his witty and gripping travel story had been made by every organization before whom he has appeared.

This lecture is given under the auspices of Central club, Aces club and the Central boys' club.

Mr. Riley is a noted lawyer and public speaker of the Pacific coast, who as the result of an enthusiasm for travel and wide experience has seen a great deal of the world, and is now taking this means of acquainting the American people with the wonders of their native land. His colorful narrative is rivalled by his collection of art studies in natural color projected upon the screen. These pictures of snowy volcanoes, mountain lakes, rivers, ocean headlands, and Alpine flower gardens, are of such transcendent beauty and grandeur as to delight his audiences.

She had travelled extensively on the Continent, visiting art galleries and enjoying all the beauty of life, for she was an intense lover of the beautiful. A fine musician, she excelled both in piano and violin. She belonged to many musical societies and contributed her own talents to them.

A lover of the drama, she enjoyed working with the Community Players, and with the clubs of the Y. W. C. A., and the Camp Fire girls. She was a prominent member of the Westchester Woman's Club, and had held many offices. As a devoted wife, mother, and daughter no one could surpass her.

While all who knew her even slightly, could not but be impressed with her strong, lovely personality, those who knew her best realized that her watchword was Duty: without saying the word, it always seemed to be the Keynote of her character.

Services were held at her home in Mt. Vernon also, Rev. Mr. Weist officiating, and the flowers which were assembled there were from her many friends.

Saturday morning at 6, Patrolman Marty Stanton came upon a mild mannered little chap walking towards Newton Centre Square from the direction of Waban. He gave his name as Michael Levine and explained he was one of the four boys who had departed yesterday morning from Chelsea with young Saltzman. Michael's mother is dead and he has been residing in Chelsea. After running away from Officer Clancy, he and another of the group slept Friday night in a barn behind the Newton Cemetery. Saturday morning, Michael's companion decided to return to Chelsea, and young Levine started to resume his hike to Springfield, where his father lives. Their sense of direction was poor; Michael, on his way to Springfield headed East, and the other boy, bound for Chelsea, was going towards Waban, when he parted from his companion. Michael was turned over to an older boy who is a fellow boarder at the same house in Chelsea.

In closing Mrs. Kent paid a tribute to Roosevelt, who, she said, stood between those who would "Smash the Trusts" or big business, and those who wanted the business consolidated still more, with the Sherman law resulting, allowing a man to make a large fortune, providing he did so honestly and according to law. according to law.

E. Durgin, the Club's vice-president. Shakespeare was born home of Mrs. H. E. Durgin, the Club's vice-president. Shakespeare was born on April 23rd, but the celebration is to be held on the 24th, since on that day Club members may hie them to Norwell, and in sylvan glades and woodsy dells that breathe of the master's dramatic touch, and the environment of his own fair Stratfordon-Avon, they will call to mind the plays that they have revelled in this few months past. Luncheon at the Norwell estate is planned for 1 o'clock, to be followed by a Surprise Entertainment arranged by the hostess.

C. L. S. C. of Newton Highlands

The next meeting of the C. L. S. C. s to take the form of a feast of poetry. Each member of the Club is to tittend the meeting prepared to quote ner favorite short poem. The delight of such a program can only be realized by one who has engaged in this pastigne. For strangely one hears many ime. For, strangely, one hears many lew lines, many lovely ones that one new lines, many lovely ones that one has someway missed; and one also has recalled to her a liliting line that one has almost forgotten, and again, one learns that some fellow member—that one has always been much drawn to—has as her favorite, a poem that is especially appealing, and the drawing is explained! The hostess for the day is Miss Anna Thompson, of 63 Hartford street.

Mrs. J. S. Patton continues in office as president, Mrs. Frank Frost as treasurer, and Mrs. G. A. Salmon as auditor, but the other two officers change. Mrs. Charlton D. CHAMBER MEETING POSTPONED

Because of a misunderstanding in regard to speakers, the annual meeting of the Newton Chamber of Commerce will not be held next Tuesday evening, April 27, but will be postponed until some later date. This will be announced as soon as possible, probably within the coming week.

Realizing that the success of an event of this sort is determined largely by the character and ability of the speakers who address the meeting, the committee in charge of the arrangements believes that the matter of securing just the right speakers will be regarded by a large majority of the members as being much more important than the date, which is optional with the Board of Directors, and is to be arranged with a view of getting out the largest possible attendance.

Conflicting events of various sorts are scheduled during the early part of next week, chiefly of a social nature. It is believed an additional advantage will result from the postponement, enabling many members to be present who could not attend on April 27, while still others will not be obliged to forego the pleasures of some other event in order to attend the Chamber.

The first prize was awarded to David Crawford for his exhibit of boats. The second prize went to Andrew Kasper for his collection of the set may be a set of quality of an article.

went in order to attend the Chamber meeting.

It is expected that the speakers will include at least one who is prominent in public life, while an effort is being made to secure another who is an authority on business topics and eminently qualified to give an address that will be helpful in suggestion, inspiration, and advice to all business men who are present.

The nemployed boys of the "Y" are to form a Club for carrying out a syring program. The two gym classes on as many nights per week followed by showers and a cool swim in the Pool will not be enough as the weather gets warmer. The splash of water is in the ears of almost every working boy on a hot day even while he is busy with a daily task. Banquet to Dr. Arthur Hudson on Completion of Fifty Years in Business in Newton

Years in Business in Newton

As democratic a gathering as ever came together in Newton, assembled Monday evening at the Hunnewell Chub, to do honor to Dr. Arthur Hudson, who for fifty years has been an important factor in the life of this city. Those participating in the testimonial banquet to the venerable chemist and bacteriologist, constituted a veritable cross-section of our citizenry. Present were men of wealth and men of humble means; men who have gained prominence in professions and business, and men who toil at trades. But all were equal in one respect; in their admiration for the guest of the evening.

The committee which organized the affair consisted of Bernard M. Burke, Chairman; George C. Campbell, Wilfred Chagnon, E. Edwin Josselyn, Harrold Moore, Burt M. Rich, Alfred M. Russell and Raymond Williams. One hundred and twenty-five men were present. Mr. Burke introduced P. Sarsfield Cunniff as toastmaster. Mr.

Edited by WARREN K. BRIMBLECOM

N. A. A. MEETING

The April meeting of the Newton Athletic Association was held on Monday evening in the Newton Club. A special election was held to fill the office of treasurer which was recently vacated by Frank Dorney, who now lives in Brookline. John (Bud) Seavey of Newtonville, a former Newton high and Dartmouth athlete, was elected.

be banquets to the Newton high school teams. The first of these will be held directly after the close of the football season next fall.

The remainder of the monthly meeting will be devoted to business.

The board of aldermen has made additional appropriations for work on Claffin Field through the efforts of the association, and it is hoped that next year a new field and grandstand will be constructed.

The next meeting will be held on June 14th.

Newton 5—LYNN CLASSICAL 1
Newton High defeated Lynn Classical High Wednesday afternoon, 5 to 1, on Claffin field. Wilson, pitching his first game for the orange and black gheld the North Shore nine to two hits and no runs until the eighth inning. After passing a man with one out, two hits followed in rapid succession and one run was over. Newton was leading 3 to 1 and the tying runs were on second and third, so Wilson turned over the mound to Pickard, who checked the rally short. The next two men were retired on infield plays. In the ninth Pickard pitched to but three men.

He promptly stole second, being safe because the shortstop dropped the ball. From the middle bag he scored on a clean hit to left by Holbrook. In the fifth frame the local team scored two more, when Stubbs blasted a triple to left centre with Spain on base. Stubbs scored on a clean hit by McCullough.

In the eighth Newton added two more just to make it safe. McCullough was safe on first on an error by the shortstop. Gilligan stuck his bat in front of a bad pitch and without nowing it laid down a pretty sacrice bunt. Proctor came through with single scoring his captain. Holbrook adde his second hit of the game and will be included in any way which will may appear to a did in any way which will was when way which will may appear to a did in any way which will further strictly anateur baseball in Newton among the various village teams.

Everett scored its run in the opening stanza when Pickard passed Rice, who stole second. DeMott hit to Proctor, whose throw to Whitmore was dropped, allowing Rice to score. Gilligan saved another Everett run in the second when Graffin stepped across the plate in an effort to lay down a bunt to score Bleiler. Gilligan claimed interference and Doc Mooney called Graffin out and sent Bleiler back to third. He was left there when Keefe lined out to Whitmore for the third out.

The strong wing caused Proctor to throw poorly and he was credited with three bobbles. Whitmore had two errors charged to him.

ALLEN LOSES TWO

Saturday afternoon Boston University freshmen gave the Allen-Chalmers school of West Newton its first defeat of the season on the local team's field. The score was 4 to 3. Labovich, Terrier cub pitcher, held allen scoreless until the ninth when he was hammered for three runs and driven from the box. N. Doyle, Allen, ball went through Spain, and Whit-Saturday afternoon Boston Univer-was decided to hold four social ings next year two of which will conway.

AMATEUR TWILIGHT LEAGUE

Johnny Proctor and Frank Spain shifted positions in the Lynn game. Proctor played a good game at the middle bag. Spain will improve as soon as he gets used to playing short. In the eighth he started to cover second too soon and the Lynn batter sent one right through his position. It eventually scored Lynn's only run, but would have been an easy out if properly fielded.

Gilligan was right there in the sixth when he came through with a triple to score McCullough, who was given a life by the shortstop's error.

Pickard looked good in the box. He Pickard looked good in the box. He passed but two of Brickley's men, fanned one. He made the Everett lads easy outs. As a fieldig pitcher, the Newton ace is there. He handled seven chances, most of them none too easy, perfectly, and got his man.

Newton will face Medford High to-morrow afternoon on Claffin field. The game has no bearing on the Sub-urban League title, as Medford is no longer a member of the league.

Holbrook came through nicely in the fourth inning of the game with Lynn. His safe hit scored Gilligan with the first run and gave the orange and black confidence.

Lynn could have scored in the sixth if they had resorted to bunting. With men on first and second and none out, two sacrifices would have put a man across. They tried to belt the ball out of the lot instead and were easily retired.

more stopped it half-way between first and second. The Lynn runner was so far off second that Whitmore ran to the bag and retired him.

On the Newton Centre Playground last Friday afternoon the DeWitt Clinton school baseball team pinned a 9 to 5 defeat on the School of Prac-tical Arts nine of Boston. Pierce pitching for DeWitt, struck out 16 artists.

At the Penn relay carnival last Sat-urday Boston University was the first of the New England colleges to com-pete. It drew Catholic U. and St. John's of Brooklyn as its opponents. Fred Onthank, lead-off man for the Terriers, stayed back until the turn was reached on the back stretch and then he opened up and sailed into the lead, giving his teammates a fifteen-yard margin.

The Newton High School golf team blanked Lowell High School in a match at the Charles River C. C. on Monday afternoon. Capt. J. J. Gian-ferante and his mates, P. Devlin, W. Benger, P. G. Gianferante, and Tom Manning each won their matches, scoring five points for Newton.

Several Newton boys have answere the call for spring football practice at Bowdoin College. Bill Alexander, Dan Kennedy, Joe Kohler, and Hamil-ton Oakes reported Monday for the Orst session.

Capt.-elect Clem Coady of the Harvard varsity led sixty-eight candidates onto the field Monday to greet the new coach. Arnold Horween, in the first spring practice of the season. Besides Coady, Newton will be represented by Jake Stafford, who is expected to be the first string quarterback and New Dewing, who will try for a place in the line.

NEWTONVILLE RACQUET CLUB The last meeting of the Fellowship Club for the season was addressed by Professor Harlan T. Stetson, who told about his recent trip around the world to observe the eclipse of the sun at Sumatra. The talk was illustrated with 100 beautiful views.

This Club began its career 28 years ago as a Neighborhood Tennis Club, using the court on the estate of the late Amos C. Judkins on Central avenue. Five years ago, increasing interest in the sport led to a reorganization under the present name—the Newtonville Racquet Club. At the same time the Club took an option on a sizable tract of land back of Jenison street and built a court upon it. Later it acquired the title to this land and added to it, until it now has a plot containing about 64,000 feet. Last year another court was completed, so that the members now have the use of three excellent courts, the two new ones in particular in superb condition. There is space on the Club's land for at least two more courts, when the demand develops.

THE EVERY SATURDAY CLUB

The Every Saturday Club held it The Every Saturday Club held its Annual Business and Social Meeting on Saturday evening, April 17, 1926 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Royal B. Farnum, on Prospect terrace, Newton-ville. The business of the evening was to elect officers and choose a program for the ensuing year, which will be the 57th season of this club. The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden; Vice President, Mr. Royal B. Farnum; Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Marion

Vice President, Mr. Royal B. Farnum:
Secretary-Treasurer, Miss Marion
Drew Bassett.

Several tentative programs were submitted for consideration and discussion. Spanish Literature, the subject chosen, was presented as a program that would be a little outside the general course of reading, and a worth-while literature to study, and one that is attracting much attention in the literary world of today.

After the business of the evening was finished, a very amusing and delightful social hour followed, with refreshments and games and a general good time.

And so the Every Saturday Club
bade adieu to its fifty-sixth season.

MAN AND HIS MACHINES (As told to William A. McGarry)

"There never has been a time when we have been able to earn our living with so little effort and in so short a working day. The time is coming when making a living will be the smallest of man's tasks. We shall produce our necessities by a mere fraction of our strength, and use the rest in experimenting with the universe." ## YOU'RE ON THE AIR

By Graham McNamee In Collaboration With Robert Gordon Anderson

"It might seem there was little left for a broadcaster to tell. Still we have two things on most other professions—a uniqueness, and a certain mystery that can never die. No other calling so blends romance, mechanics, and fact; and no other offers such opportunities for mingling in great happenings, for being behind the scenes at the great dramas of the world." In The Saturday Evening Post, out today, five cents.

MY ROPE AND GUM FOR A DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

"I wanted to find a campaign issue for the Democratic Party. If I could have found one, think what we could have witnessed at the next election! Why it would have been published in the papers what day the election was to be. People would have held meetings again. I wouldn't even be surprised if they had buttons with pictures on them again!" In The Saturday Evening Post, out today, five cents.

ABOUT TOWN

Many young women walking along Washington street and other streets in this city have been subjected to insults from rowdies who cruise along the highways and accost girls. These youths are for the most part nonresidents of Newton and "sport" in autos that can hardly be termed deluxe. Measures are being taken to curb these pests and it is more than probable that few of them will appear in court shortly.

The banquet honoring Dr. Arthur Hudson well illustrated what a "melting-pot" is this country of ours. The guest of honor is a native of England. Among those present were descendants of those who emigrated from the Emerald Isle during the last century, and men of those races from southern and eastern Europe who have come to the United States in self. At the conclusion of Dr. Lowe's speech, the gathering sang "Auld Lang Spne" and gave three rousing cheers for Dr. Hudson. The latter was called upon for some brief remarks, but was so overcome with emotion that he could not express his thanks.

During the banquet those in attendance were regaled with popular songs by a male chorus lead by Dr. Cecil Clark, ably assisted by Thomas Lyons and W. Uriah Fogwill. Mr. Fogwill's dramatic rendition of the ballads made a big hit with the audience. "Joe" Antonelli, who was in excellent voice, sang a number of selections very effectively. He was assisted at the piano by Charles Budden.

ARTICLE No. 26

In the great majority of hands the proper lead is not difficult. Every now and then, however, a player will hold a hand that puzzles him as to the lead. The correct decision in such cases means a game saved or at least a trick or so. The writer noted three such hands the other evening and in every one of them the correct opening lead made a tremendous difference.

Hearts — K, J, 7, 2
Clubs — Q, J, 8, 4

No score, rubber game. Z dealt and bid one diamond, A doubled, Y bid three diamonds, and B three spades. Z bid four diamonds, A four spades, Y five diamonds and B and Z passed. A doubled and all passed. What should A open? In this hand the trump opening seems the ideal one. With the trump opening, the five club any other opening, it can be defeated only one trick. Note that in both of these hands the bidding of both opponents indicated very clearly that trump trick. Don't make trump opening sunless having three suits well protected and unless you know that the opening will not make your partner lose a trump trick. They are perfect in lands as just given out, but should be used with great discretion.

four diamonds, A four spades, Y five diamonds and B and Z passed. A doubled and all passed. What should A open? This is certainly a difficult hand. If he hadn't forced his partner to bid by his informatory double of one diamond, the ace of spades would be the logical opening, but as B's bid is in answer to A's double, A is not justified in assuming that B holds the king of spades. Both the club and heart leads are questionable so the proper lead seems to be the four of diamonds. The fact that A holds three suits, all of which he would prefer to have led to him, makes the trump opening with this hand the ideal one. As a matter of fact, it was the only opening that would have saved game. With this opening the five diamond bid was defeated one trick.

Have you a date with the ash-man? If not, now is the time to make it. The Mayor can fix things for you. In fact he has already done so. It's all up to you now to complete the job. "Clean-up week" in Newton begins May 3 and continues to May 8. This means you can hand over to the city collectors (not the city collectors (not the city collectors of coin and checks at City Hall) but the collectors who operate large and capacious trucks whatever you choose. They will roll-up and take anything off your hands, or, to be more exact, off your sidewalk.

Street Commissioner Stuart, whom we have to thank more than anybody else for keeping our streets so neat and attractive, has arranged a schedule of "carting-off" days. All he asks is that rubbish from inside and outside the house, the rakings from the lawn and anything else that is caught in the "clean-up" dragnet, be ready for the men and wagons.

A pretty thoughtful arrangement if you should ask us and one deserving of the earnest appreciation of all citizens. A little back-bending may be involved, but just think of the results!

Tomorrow is May Day, et us all join heartily in singing, "You must wake and call me early, call me early, mother dear, for tomorrow I am to be Queen (or King) of the May.

MULLEN-LYONS

George Mullen, son of Mrs. Thomas Mullen of Centre street. Newton Highlands, and a member of the Newton Police Department, and Miss Catharine Lyons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons of Wildwood avenue. West Newton, were married Thursday morning at a nuptial mass in St. Bernard's Church, Rev. John Lyons, S. J. of Lenox performed the ceremony.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Elizabeth Lyons, as maid of honor, and a cousin of the groom, Thomas Mulen, was best man. Ushers at the church were Francis Mullen, brother of the groom, and Richard Lyons, brother of the bride. Seated within the sanctuary was Rev. James F. Haney of the Church of the Sacred Heart, Newton Centre.

The bride was gowned in white satin and lace and wore a veil trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a shower boquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette and a hat to match.

There was a reception and wedding breakfast at the home of the bride's parents. Following a wedding trip to New York, Washington, Baltimore and Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. Mullen will reside in Newton Police Department.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. held a meeting Tuesday, April 20th, at the home of Mrs. Sarah Hovenden, Austin street, Newtonville. It was the meeting for the Young People's Branch and a play given by the young folks depicting the benefits of prohibition was much enjoyed. Refreshments were served and the hostesses were Mrs. Nellie S. Clark and Mrs. Celia Allen.
